WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Thirty-Eighth Congress--Some More of Its Beauties--The President and the Freedman's Bureau.

In the House, on last Monday, Mr. Chanler, of N. Y., offered the following:

"Resolved, That the independent, patriotic and constitutional course of the President of the United States, in seeking to protect, by the veto power, the rights of the people of this Union, against the wicked and revolutionary acts of a few malignant men, meets with the aproval of this House, and deserves the cordial support of all loyal citizens of the United States.

"Resolved, That this House believes the Freedmen's Bureau unnecessary and unconstitutional and hereby directs the chairman of the committee having charge of that bureau to report a bill repealing all acts inconsistent with this resolution."

Mr. Schenck, of Ohio, said the resolution was insolent to the House, and should not be received. He moved it be rejected as utterly unfit to be considered.

Mr. Chanler.—That was not unexpected.

The resolution was again read.

Mr. Stevens moved that it be not received.

The Speaker.—That can be done under the 41st. rule of the House.

Mr. Rogers, of New Jersey.—I move to lay the resolution on the table.

The Speaker.—The resolution is not before the House yet. The question is on its reception. Considerable confusion here ensued. Order being restored, the question was taken, and the resolution was not received Yeas 20, nays 82.

Mr. Schenck, of Ohio, offered a resolution to the following effect:

"Resolved, That Hon. John W. Chanler, a representative in this House from the 7th district of New York, in presenting this day a resolution in the following words: [here the above resolution is recited] has thereby offered a gross insult to the House, and is hereby censured therefor."

Mr. Schenck, of Ohio, said he did not propose to debate the resolution, although he would says that he ought to have made it one of expulsion.

Mr. Rogers, of New York.—Why don't you include all on this side of the House in your resolution? That seems to be your policy.—[Cries of "Order," "order!"]

Mr. Schenck, of Ohio, demanded the previous question.

Several members appealed to him to withdraw the demand and allow debate. Mr. Schenck declined, and the previous question was ordered—yeas 58, nays 37. Another scene of confusion ensued. Members appealed to Mr. Schenck to allow Mr. Chanler to be heard. The former essayed to speak, but there were loud cries of "order" and objection from the democratic side.

The Speaker called the House to order and said that no debate was in order unless by unanimous consent.

Mr. Schenck rose and said he was willing that Mr. Chanler should be heard.

All objection was withdrawn.

Mr. Chanler proceeded thereupon to address the House. What laid behind the object of the member from Ohio (Mr. Schenck) in offering this resolution he did not know, and as to his (Mr. C's) object he (Mr. C.) was alone cognizant and for the gentleman (Mr. Schenck) to assume that he (Mr. C.) intended to insult this House in the resolution he had offered was to put the insult on the gentleman himself.

If that gentleman felt the sting of that resolution, let him suffer. What he did mean he need not reveal, for the words of the resolution were so plain and so simple that any honest man would not fail for one moment to construe it.—If he (Mr. C.) meant to insult this House, it was a presumption far beyond his merit. When the veto came it fell like a thunderbolt, and the Executive was threatened with impeachment and assassination on the other side. He did not, however, thrust himself forward to defend the President; but he would allude to the billingsgate and hateful anathemas of every kind which were being constantly hurled upon the minority on this floor, day after day, by the majority.—He cared nothing for their paper pellets and calumnious resolution.

Mr. Spaulding, of Ohio, rose to inquire of Mr. Chanler if he meant to malign any members of this House by his resolution?

Mr. Chanler.—Not all, sir; not all. It applied to no one man or set of men or any organization. Of course it was not personal. It was a political generality; and nothing but the malignity of the disposition of the member from Ohio could have conceived it. He thanked the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Spaulding) for asking the question.

Mr. Dawes, of Mass., asked Mr. Chanler, in good faith, whom he meant by the words in his first resolution, "of a few malignant and mischievous men," "against whose wicked and revolutionary acts" the veto power was directed.

Mr. Chanler said he meant every wicked and malicious man. [Great laughter.]

Mr. Dawes said he asked the gentleman now directly if he did not mean, those who voted for the acts which the President vetoed?

Mr. Chanler.—No more, nor none less. The resolution is a political generality.

Mr. Dawes.—But to whom does it apply?

Mr. Chanler said it applied to all who supported unconstitutional measures, and perhaps the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. Dawes,] Are his withers unwrung? [Laughter.]

Mr. Dawes rose to reply, but Mr. Chanler declined to yield.

Mr. Chanler then went on to say that he might not be the superior of Mr. Schenck, but under God he was his equal, though he was not proud of that. He cared nothing for the malignancy of the member from Ohio, nor for the entire republican party on this floor. If he had the power he would hurl the republican party into that hell enclosed by a cordon of bayonets to which the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Stevens) was so anxious to consign hundreds of thousands of our fellow-citizens. Proceed with your vote. I am ready for it.

The vote was then taken, and the resolution of censure was adopted—yeas 72, nays 30. The nays were the twenty-five democrats and five republicans. The republicans in the negative were Messrs. Dorling and Davis, of New York, Laflin, of New York, Van Horn of New York, and Washburne of Indiana. Otherwise the vote was strictly a party one. A large number of members were absent from the hall.

DAILY SENTINEL.

"I WOULD RATHER BE RIGHT THAN BE PRESIDENT."—Henry Clay.

VOL. I. RALEIGH, FRIDAY, MAY 18, 1866. NO. 238.

The Horrors of Point Lookout and Elmira.

(From the Charlottesville Chronicle.)

We have been anxious to see from some competent hand an account of the manner in which our Confederate soldiers fared as prisoners of war, and we are therefore happy to announce that Mr. A. M. Keiley, of the Petersburg Index, has published in a small and very readable volume his experience of a protracted confinement at Point Lookout and at Elmira. There is so much said about Andersonville and Salisbury, that it is well to know how these things were managed by the parties whose virtuous indignation has been so much aroused against Capt. Wirz and Major Gee.

It is proper, however, to bear in mind that the opportunities for providing some tolerable degree of comfort to those held as prisoners of war were very different at the North from what they were at the South. For the last two years of the war the population of the Southern Confederacy were not only deprived of the luxuries of life, but it was really a struggle to procure food of the plainest kind. Most persons consumed no tea, coffee, or sugar; many lived without meat. The clothing was of the rudest material, and the wardrobes of the wealthiest exceedingly scanty. By a rigid blockade the Federal ships and troops rendered it difficult to procure medicines, which, if obtained, were sold at fabulous prices.

It is well known also that our armies subsisted on the scantiest rations, and that frequently they were almost in a starving condition.

At the North there was everything in abundance—corn, wheat, pork, beef, vegetables, woolen and cotton fabrics, medicines, wines, fruit, tea, coffee, &c.

Notwithstanding this, at the prisons of Point Lookout and Elmira, where thousands of prisoners were confined, our men were always hungry, and in the winter were never protected from the cold.

Mr. Keiley gives the following as the bill of fare at Point Lookout: for breakfast, four or five ounces of meat (pork or beef) and a slice of bread to each man: for dinner, a slice of bread and "rather over half-pint of watery slop, by courtesy called 'soup'." This was all a man got to eat in twenty-four hours.

At Elmira the ration of bread was a full pound per day. The meat ration, on the other hand, was invariably scanty. "It sometimes happened that the same man got bones only for several successive days." Rats were eaten in numbers. "I have seen," says our author, "a mob of hungry 'rebs' besiege the bone-cart, and beg from the driver fragments on which an August sun had been burning for several days."

At Point Lookout the water was "so impregnated with some mineral as to offend every nose, and induce diarrhœa in almost every case. It colors everything black in which it is allowed to rest, and a scum rises on the top of a vessel if it is left standing during the night, which reflects the prismatic colors as distinctly as the surface of a stagnant pool." There are "wells" outside of the prison pen from which the Federals supplied themselves with good water.

Speaking of the same prison, the writer says: "During the scorching summer, whose severity during the day is as great on that sand-barren as anywhere in the Union north of the Gulf, and through the hard winter, which is more severe at that point than anywhere in the country south of Boston, these poor fellows were confined here in open tents, on the naked ground, without a plank or a handful of straw between them and the heat or the frost of the earth. And when, in the winter, a high tide or an easterly gale would flood the pen, and freeze as it flooded, the sufferings of the half-clad wretches may be easily imagined. Many died outright, &c. Even the well-clad sentinels, although relieved every thirty minutes (instead of every two hours, as is the army rule,) perished in some instances, and in others lost their feet and hands, through the terrible cold of the season."

"During all this season the ration of wood allowed to each man was an arm-full for five days, and this had to cook for him as well as warm him."

This is not all: Only one blanket was allowed to each man. There were regular inspections, and every extra blanket was seized.

"You could receive nothing in the way of clothing without giving up the corresponding article which you might chance to possess."—All money was also taken away.

Every third day there were negro sentinels on duty, whose "insolence and brutality were intolerable." If a prisoner crossed the dead-line, their warning was the click of the lock, sometimes the discharge of the musket.

The shelter at Point Lookout was at the rate of one "A. tent"—covering about six feet square—to each squad of five; or one Sibley tent—diameter fifteen feet—to every eighteen men.

The author was transferred from Point Lookout to Elmira, where a number of the officers in command were civil and kind, and a number brutes and villains. One Captain Bowden at this prison had up before him, on some occasion, a prisoner named Hale (of the old Stonewall brigade) for drunkenness, and he sought to know where he got his liquor. Hale refused to tell, as it would compromise others. He was accordingly tied up by the thumbs, suffering exquisite torture; but he still refused to peach, and called on his fellow prisoners to remember this when they got home. Bowden grew exasperated, and attempted to gag him by fastening a heavy oak tent-pin in his mouth; and when he would not open his mouth sufficiently—a difficult operation—he struck him in the face with the oaken billet, a blow which broke several of his teeth and covered his mouth with blood!

At Elmira the most scandalous neglect existed in the hospitals in the matter of providing the patients with proper food. "I do not doubt that many of them perished from actual starvation."

There was also "an inexcusable deficiency in medicine." Several weeks, in which dysentery and inflammation of the bowels prevailed, there was not a grain of any preparation of opium in the dispensary, and many a poor fellow died for want of this medicine. The doctors were also extremely ignorant. The mortality which took place exceeded even the reported mortality at Andersonville.

At Andersonville, out of a population of 36,000, six thousand, or one-sixth of all, died from Feb. 1, 1864 to Aug. 1, 1864. At Elmira the quota was not made up till the last of August, so that September was the first month during which any fair estimate of the mortality could be made. Now out of less than 9,500 persons, as the first of September, three hundred and eighty-six died that month. At Andersonville, it was one thirty-sixth of the whole per month; at Elmira it was one twenty-fifth. At the first it was less than three per cent. per month; at the latter it was four per cent per month.

Our article is already extended. We commend Mr. Keiley's book,—it is called "In Vinculis; or the Prisoner of War"—to our readers as the production of an intelligent, well informed and truthful writer.

" one month,	1 00

Our terms are invariably in advance. Money may be sent us by the Rail Road conductors or the Express Companies.

Rail Roads of the State.

We believe that, excepting the power of taxation, which, in our present condition, must be exercised with great discretion and leniency, there is nothing left to the State except her interest in several of the Rail Roads. This interest is valuable in many respects, but in order that it be made more so, the greatest possible skill, energy, economy and efficiency must be infused into its management.

The roads were built to afford the public quick but safe thoroughfares of travel, to develope the resources of the State, by supplying the agricultural, mining and manufacturing interests of the State with speedy and cheap transportation of their products to market, and to contribute, as far as possible, to the building up of our own seaport towns.

But the present condition of the State, and of our people, demands, if possible, that, in addition to all these benefits, they shall, in future, be made remunerative to the State and to the Stockholders. While the resources of the State and the people were abundant, the millions of dollars expended in their construction and furnishing might be suffered to contribute to the general welfare, without much direct benefit to the State and Stockholders, but that idea must now be considered obsolete. We believe that all our Rail Roads, as soon as the business of the South is revived, can be made paying institutions. But, to make them so, we must change, in a great measure, our North Carolina notions of economy, of labor and efficiency. We are becoming a great people for petty offices. We act too much upon the principle that the more employees we have the better for much work. All experience has shown us, in the past, that in domestic, as well as in public, affairs, we were much wedded to the custom of having two persons to do the work of one. We have always been averse to hard work, and hence, if an ordinary man was too much taxed with labor, his place has been more readily supplied with two cheaper men; whereas a better man than the first would be decidedly cheaper.

Economy in labor and expenditure on our Rail Roads is an important item. But the only economy which pays, is to employ and purchase only the best of every thing. Money, well laid out on a Rail Road, as in a Hotel, is sure to pay.—Men, officers and employees, ought to be of the best kind. The most industrious, energetic, skillful, untiring go-aheaditiveness should distinguish every man connected with a Rail Road. Every man should be suited to his place, and every man should be paid according to his real worth.

In nothing, perhaps, have Southern Rail Roads erred so much as in the rates charged for freight and passage. If the business of a Road promises not to be very large, they manage readily to stifle all disposition to travel or to increase freight, by these exorbitant charges.—That this is not necessary, is proven by the fact, that so soon as competition is started with a reasonable prospect of dividing the business with them, freight and passage are put down at once.

But one of the most provoking, worrying, and, we believe, damaging things to North Carolina Rail Roads, is the almost universal practice of detention at ordinary depots on the route, without any conceivable necessity for it. Every Rail Road Superintendent or President ought to understand fully the power and ability of his Road and rolling stock. It is proper that he should arrange the speed of his engines accordingly. No one objects to this. For while every one on a Rail Road desires to travel swiftly, they prefer safety to swiftness. But when people get on a Rail Road, they want to go! They do not pay for an hour or half hour's sight-seeing at a country depot, where a grog shop, saw mill and a dozen gaping, lazy freedmen are only to be seen. We have heard of instances of detention for a half hour and an hour, where a few bags of cotton seed or a few bundles of hay were to be put off. When inquiry has been made, why this delay, the reply has been 'we are following the schedule.' Thus, on a road of ordinary distance, the engines are kept fired up and hands are unemployed, who might be relieved or put to profitable work at the end of the Road.

We are deeply anxious for the success of all our Rail Roads. We have no particular interest in any of them, but, viewing them as an important enterprise in the State, we shall do what we can to excite all concerned in them to new energy. Our old fashioned hum-drum movements must be laid aside, our penny-wise and pound-foolish policy must be abandoned, and every man employed on them, from brakemen up to the highest officer, should understand his business and know how to perform it promptly and energetically.

WE ARE compelled to defer, until to-morrow, the opinion of the Public Treasurer alluded to in our issue of yesterday.

GOLD closed in New York, on the 16th., at 129¼. Sales of 1400 bales of Cotton at 34¼ cts.

William Craft, famous as a fugitive slave, and husband of Ellen Craft, a heroine well remembered, has established a large school at Whydah, South Africa, and the King of Dahomey testifies his appreciation by sending him, as a present, six slaves.

The Representative Man.

We spoke, on yesterday, of the spirit of ultra abolitionism, and, as we think justly, attributed to it all the evils that have befallen the country. Every ism has its representative man. Robespierre and Marat were the incarnation of the spirit of Jacobinism of the French Revolution,—Jack Cade of mobbism in England,—Wendell Phillips and Greeley of negrophilism in America. But Thad. Stevens is the representative ultra-abolitionist. He embodies, in himself, all the qualities of that faction. He possesses all its fanaticism, its illiberality, its unrelenting hatreds, its preference of self to country.

During the present session of Congress, he has, from time to time, developed those qualities whose possession makes him, as it were, an epitome of the entire radical party. One day, by moving the previous question so as to shut off debate, he has developed that intolerance in abolitionism which would carry its measures regardless of the character of the opposition. At another time, he has advocated universal confiscation; and in this instance he developed that bigoted hatred peculiar to abolitionism, and which, to gratify its ferocious character, would pauperize every white man and woman in the South. At some other time, he has stood up to denounce the President as a traitor; and in this, and in his unsparing denunciation of those who opposed him, he represented the blackguard element of his party.

On the day of the consideration of the Constitutional amendment in the House of Representatives, he united all these characters in one, and presented himself before the house as the representative, at the moment, of all that he had before represented in its individual capacity.—He was the embodiment of all his previous characters, and of abolitionism in mass. He was a bigot, a fanatic, a blackguard, all in one.

In speaking of 8,000,000 Southerners, he said the "penitentiary of hell is the penitentiary they deserve." He said he "would to God" that the Southern people might be excluded from Congress, "not only until 1870, but until 1970." Exclusion until then would, he said, "be too mild a punishment." He continued, "Humble them, why not? Do they not deserve degradation? If they do not, who does? What animal or felon deserves it more?"

And so on indefinitely, in a stream of utterances which now display the bully, anon the fanatic, and always the intolerant bigot. It is into the hands of such men that the destinies of the country have fallen!

The Trial of Mr. Davis

It appears that the trial of the Hon. Jefferson Davis has been fixed for the month of June, in the city of Richmond. He will be tried upon the charge of high treason, on the bill recently found by the Grand Jury in the U. S. District Court at Norfolk. Chief Justice Chase will preside, assisted by Underwood. The prosecution will be conducted by Attorney General Speed, assisted by Judge Clifford, of Mass., and Mr. Evarts, of New York. Charles O'Conner, Esq., of New York, is the only lawyer yet named for the defence. Of counsel, however, in his defence, there will be no lack. It is understood that Mr. Davis has long insisted upon a trial, vastly preferring a speedy decision of his case to long pining and daily dying in close confinement.—The honor of the government is pledged to give him a fair trial, and we presume this will be given, (if an impartial jury can be procured,) so far as it can be before a Court already prejudiced against the accused, if their known interpretations of the law warrant a conclusion.

It will be, by far, the most important legal investigation which has ever occurred in the country. The whole theory of the government will be thoroughly sifted,—the rights and powers of the Federal and State governments will be critically and fully examined, and what treason is will be defined. It will draw together a large concourse of anxious listeners at Richmond, and the result, we hope, will be honorable to the character of the government, and result in the preservation of Mr. Davis' brief span of life.

General Howard on General Steedman---He Don't Believe the Commissioners.

The following letter of General O. O. Howard, head of the Freedman's Bureau, to one Rev. Geo. Whipple, is published. It will be seen that though "I have not the facts as to North Carolina," "you and your friends may rest assured that every shadow of accusation of complicity in crime on the part of those officers there is utterly without foundation." This is the letter:

"The Rev. George Whipple:

"MY DEAR SIR: When I saw the article you culled from the Herald, written by a correspondent from Washington, of May 7, I cut it from the paper and enclosed it to Gen. Whittlesey. I have not yet received a reply. You will notice my letter, published in the Herald of the next day. Now the Rev. Horace James is the same who was Captain James, A. Q. M., a man who has ever lived above reproach in all matters. As to these gentlemen owning plantations I do not doubt it. There is no speculation in the matter. It is true, that many officers, all through the South, and not confined to the Freedmen's Bureau, have invested what little money they could in this way. I have never found any cases of the prostitution of official position for private gain. Our volunteer officers are soon to leave the service, and, like provident men generally, they aim to secure some livelihood. General Whittlesey has worked hard in his official capacity, and I believe he has never been charged with using his time other than for the Government. I encourage the setting all idlers at work. The people cried, "The negroes will not work," therefore I urged the renting and running of plantations to afford practical example, to encourage joint companies. The same malcontents who raised the false alarm that the negroes will not work in freedom now seek to blacken the reputation of every man who has shown the falsity of their theories by practical demonstration, and declare that official position is used to rob them of their hands. We had large accumulations of poor people, and we did set them at work.

"I have not yet the facts as to North Carolina, but you and your friends may rest assured that every shadow of accusation of complicity in crime on the part of those officers there is utterly without foundation.

"I expect denunciation of this bureau, but the same denunciation could be made against the Treasury Department, or any other department, and of the Government, with equal show of justice. The bureau does not do enough to secure the rights of the negro, I will admit, but it does not burn negro churches and schoolhouses; it does not reject negro testimony. It will endeavor to prevent starvation until the next crop comes in. It will always keep its legitimate objects clearly in view of promoting industry, education and justice.

"Very respectfully,
"O. O. HOWARD.
"Major-General Commanding.

"NEW YORK, May 8, 1866."

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.—The following official statement from the Executive office will be gratifying to the people of the State:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, May 16th., 1866.

On application to the Secretary of the Treasury, a new set of Weights and Measures has been furnished to this State, in lieu of those lost during the late war.

As many of the counties of the State, during the progress of the war, have probably lost their standards of Weights and Measures, the attention of the Justices of the Peace of the several counties is called to chap. 117, Revised Code; and all counties, which may have lost their standards of Weights and Measures, or any part of them, are requested to report the same to this Department, to the end that they may be supplied.

JONATHAN WORTH,
Governor of North Carolina.

GENERAL NEWS.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 15.—Within the last three or four days a very material change in the treatment of Mr. Davis has been noticed, under the direction of Major General Miles, acting, no doubt, under instructions from Washington. The guard formerly in his room of one soldier has been removed permanently, it is said, and there is every reason to believe that the number of the guard all around the neighbourhood of his cell will be very materially decreased in a very short time.

Forney is generally regarded as a sort of barometer indicating the prevailing sentiment of those to whose fortunes he has attached his own for the time being. Judging the Radicals by this test, they are constantly becoming more rabid and blood-thirsty. Forney deals in daily billingsgate, misrepresentations, and positive falsehoods, in his war upon the President, and upon the Southern people, to a degree that must nauseate every decent man even in his own party.

In General Wise's lecture in Alexandria on Saturday night, for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum, he indicated his intention to stand by Virginia; that he would not move one step from her soil; that he had taken no test-oaths, and no power on earth could make him take any. He had always obeyed the Constitution of the United States, but when the United States called on him to suppress insurrection, and Virginia to repel invasion, it became a conflict of sovereignty, and he was not individually responsible for obeying the call of his State.

Stevens demanded, and the House on Monday gave him, a special committee to go to Memphis, and try to cook up some profitable horrors out of the late riots there. Washburne, of Illinois, Boutwell, of Massachusetts, and Le Blond, of Ohio, were appointed and ordered to go at once and take the Sergeant at Arms and a reporter with them. Le Blond is a Democrat, the others Stevens' men.

THE REMOVAL OF POSTMASTERS, &c—There are some twenty thousand postmasters in the United States, of whom but eight or nine hundred require confirmation by the Senate. There are to be vigorous removals among the rest who are denouncing the administration. Their dismissals are being made out at the Postoffice Department.

Report upon the Health of Jefferson Davis.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 15.—It is understood that the surgeon of the Post has complied with the instruction of President Johnson to furnish a special report upon the physical condition of Jefferson Davis. The nature of the report has not been made known, but there is reason to believe that it does not speak in very hopeful terms of his condition, and urges a less rigid system of confinement, if his restoration to perfect health is at all desired.

An Important Act.

We publish below, for general information, at the request of a subscriber, the following Act, passed by the late Legislature:

AN ACT TO EXTEND THE TIME ALLOWED TO WIDOWS TO ENTER THEIR DISSENT TO THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENTS OF THEIR HUSBANDS.

Be it enacted, by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the widows of all testators whose last wills and testaments have been admitted to probate in this State since the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, and before the first day of May one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, whose real estate has not been sold, be, and they are hereby allowed, six months from and after the ratification of this act, to enter their dissent to the same.

Be it further enacted, That in all cases where the widow shall dissent from the last will and testament of her husband, as provided in the foregoing section, she shall be entitled to the same rights of dower as if her husband had died intestate: Provided, That no widow shall be entitled to the provisions of this act where the estate of her husband has been finally settled.

And, Be it further enacted, That this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified this 22nd day of Feb., A. D., 1866.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 15th.—SENATE.—Mr. Fessenden gave notice that he would call up on Monday next the Constitutional amendment proposed by the Reconstruction Committee.

A bill for the appointment of an additional Assistant Secretary of the Navy was passed.

Mr. Trumbull, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to change the place and time of holding the United States Courts in Virginia. It changes the place from Norfolk to Richmond, and provides that the time for commencing the Court Sessions shall be the first Mondays in May and December. A proviso giving the Chief Justice power to call special sessions was stricken out.

The Veto Message of the Colorado bill was received, but the Senate adjourned before it was read.

HOUSE.—The House postponed for two weeks the bill reported from the Reconstruction Committee, rendering certain persons ineligible to office.

The Tax bill was further discussed.

His arrangements are of that complete and extensive character, that he will be able to accommodate a large number of guests and to offer greater attractions than usual to those who may visit

This pleasant and healthful resort.

No trouble or expense will be spared to render his patrons comfortable and satisfied.

The grounds are elegantly laid off, and the buildings are enlarged and improved.

He will have ICE, MILK, VEGETABLES, and all the substantials and delicacies of the table in profusion.

An ICE CREAM SALOON and SODA FOUNTAIN will be attached to the establishment, where those refreshments, as well as CONFECTIONERY, Fruits &c., can be always obtained.

The bar will be supplied with the finest liquors, and a billiard saloon and bowling alley, for amusement and exercise, be at the disposal of visitors.

The Medicinal Properties

Of the Sulphur water have been amply tested during many years by a large number of visitors, and its beneficial results strikingly displayed in the cure or relief of Dyspepsia, Affections of the Liver, Jaundice, Diseases of the Skin, &c.

Another Spring has been discovered in the vicinity of the establishment, an accurate scientific analysis of which [given below] proves that it is a valuable Chalybeate. It is a mild and gentle tonic, and in the opinion of the physicians who have examined it, and witnessed its effects in some cases during several seasons must prove beneficial in Atonic Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Uterine, Nervous and Neuralgic Affections connected with Debility; and of especial service to persons living in malarious regions of country, whose blood has been robbed of its normal proportion of iron by repeated attacks of malarial fevers.

Persons traveling on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad will always find a line of stages, under the management of Mr. Granger, ready for their accommodation at Warrenton Depot. There will be a daily mail from Warrenton to the Springs.

Trial of Major Jno. H. Gee.

SYNOPSIS OF TESTIMONY.

FORTY-EIGHTH DAY.

WEDNESDAY, May 16, 1866.

J. J. Long, Salisbury.—In 1864 and up to March, 1865, was an agent on the N. C. R. I had charge at Salisbury.

Capt. Goodman frequently called me to see what chance there would be to get a train to take off the U. S. officers. He and Maj. Gee came to the depot. Gee remarked he wanted a train very badly and must have it. I said it was out of my power, but would write to get one. Maj. Gee said he feared that, if they were not sent away, they would break out; that he would have to fire upon them to quell the disturbance. I telegraphed and got a train, and he sent them off that evening. Don't recollect the name of the person in charge of the cars for military purposes. He was sent from Richmond. One captain stopped a train all night and he was arrested for it.

The bed of our road was very bad; the cross ties bad; the running stock out of fix. The trains did not run regularly. We were very short of engines.

Maj. Myers would frequently come to see if supplies had come for him. He came and impressed what was put there by speculators. I recollect his impressing flour; he took it out of the ware-house.

He sent or came once a day for weeks and months.

Capt. Goodman remarked to me that he could not get provisions; that he had applied to Myers and wanted to know why they didn't come.

Slides were quite common on the Western road, but not on the N. C., road. This was when the prisoners of war were there.

I have often seen prisoners on the wood train buying provisions.

The potatoes at my depot, large quantities, were sent by Myers to Richmond and other places. The great portion of the State stores were sent to Salisbury after I left.

I have gone down to prevent people from smuggling things on the mail trains. I was there, more or less, when every train passed.—I was doing it to aid Maj. Myers.

Cross-Examined.—The wood was hauled for the prisoners on the Western road.

Re-Direct.—There was a small quantity of wood; not much came on our road.

Jas. W. Wilson, Civil Engineer, Statesville.—Was Superintendent of the W. N. C. R. R.; knew Maj. Myers; he had the most energetic men in our country as agents. When they could, they purchased, and when they could not purchase, they impressed. He borrowed from citizens.—I have loaned him flour for the prisoners.

I wrote a note to the post adjutant, asking for assistance, or the road would have to stop operations. Eight or ten Irishmen, prisoners of war, reported to me. I gave them rations and clothing, and I think one payment of $3 per day. They were to get the same as the other laborers.

I was allowed by the Confederate authorities, one man for every mile of the road. We could not employ hands in the country to work the road. The negroes were impressed and whites in the army.

I had five engines on the road in all; one had been burnt; another injured on the Piedmont road. I had only three left, and one of them a small one.

There was a land slide on rock cut; I was 10 days blasting before I could get through. This was while the prisoners of war were there.—There were no bridges washed away on my road.

It required two engines to run a mail train and one for the freight train. I put the freight train at the disposal of the Quartermaster.

I received an order from the Secretary of War to send the two best engines to the Piedmont road.

I went to see Gen. Bradley Johnson and told him the circumstances and he told me to keep the engines. I sent one and ran the mail train twice or three times a week.

If I had obeyed the order, the prisoners would not have got wood. I stopped the mail train at the request of some of the officers at Salisbury to haul wood for the prison. The rail road company was docked for loss of time. I reported it to the President of the road.—There ought to be two gravel trains to keep the road in order, but I had none and it was in very bad order. I was visited daily by either the Quartermaster or Commissary, urging me for transportation. I don't think they had the power to impress the train. The State owned two-thirds of the stock.

There was a Col. Sims, at Richmond, who had charge of the railroads. There was an order prohibiting interfering with the roads.

I heard the Quartermaster complain that Maj. Gee was censuring him for not getting supplies. I have frequently seen prisoners of war buying provisions at the wood-train.

Myers held meetings for the citizens to send in provisions, while the prisoners of war were there.

Cross-Examined.—One train was used for no other purpose than to haul wood. It was not hauled further than 13 miles,—usually 8 cars on the train, and from 2 to 4 trips per day. Would average not more than 64 cords a day. We were straining to the utmost.

Re-Direct.—At the time the train was stopped, the wood was got to the prison by waggons.

W. H. Leak, Trinity College, N. C.—Was at Salisbury from Feb. '64 to April '65, a private in Co. C, Freeman's battalion. Was detailed to call the prison roll; was at Major Gee's headquarters. I gave tickets for rations. Every evening, at 5 o'clock, the drum beat.

The squad-sergeants would form their squads and they would be counted. The sergeants would go with me when I counted off the prisoners. They "flanked" a great deal.

There were but two of us most of the time, and we would take five divisions apiece. Some would fall out and be counted over again in another division. I asked Maj. Gee to let a man go in and count each division; he said to do the best I could, that they got none too much as it was.

I slept in the room under Maj. Gee. Couch assisted me and Lyerley in counting the prisoners. Most of the prisoners that I saw when they arrived looked very badly. Some had to be carried up from the depot.

A man named Nichols drew the rations and brought them down to the wagon. Heard Maj. Gee tell him he must ride down and deliver them himself,—to report to him every day,—to report when the amount was not enough. I have known him to report short rations. Maj. Gee said he would see into it. He would go off in the direction of Major Myers' office.

When any alarm was made he would go and see what it was for. The long roll would be beat and the officer of the day would fall the men in at the guard house.

I acted as wood sergeant for awhile; there were very few prisoners of war there then.

The prisoners who went out received extra rations. I got out those on the wood train every morning at 5 o'clock, and counted them in at night. I gave them tickets for extra rations. They bought provisions and one officer of the day wouldn't let them carry them in, and he went to Major Gee, who said to let them carry them in, if they had no liquor. I never saw them prevented. The orders were to let them carry in everything to eat, but no liquor.

Our rations fell short four days. Mastin, Duke and I were together. When we did not get meat, we got molasses. I did not get enough provisions from the commissary to live comfortably on. We generally got provisions from home. They would send bacon, chicken, pies, cakes, &c.

A good many of the barrels at the cook-house were given to the prisoners. I have issued 400 or 500 for them. A good many of them would break them up, or use them for chimneys; some roofs were built with the staves. I was in the prison every day,—sometimes four or five times a day.

I never knew any one shot by the guard.—I have seen 2,000 men in a crowd. When they collected around the gates they would order them not to collect.

Letters or boxes would be opened and read, and carried to the prison. Major Gee knew of provisions being carried in.

There was a man named Moore whose brother came and wished to see him. He came back with his sister. I brought him out and they saw him. His mother came afterwards and brought him some clothes and provisions. He was a Federal soldier. He came out several times. A gentleman from Richmond came to see a prisoner, and saw Major Gee. His name was found, by Lewis, on the register. The next day he sent a bundle, and I carried it in to him.

Maj. Gee often said he wished the prisoners could be exchanged; that they were suffering. A common thing for him to complain of a want of supplies. I never knew a prisoner to be punished for escaping.

Maj. Gee told me to tell them they would be released the next day, but not to raise an alarm for fear the guard would fire on them. I went into the Sergeant Major's room and told them.

I remember a guard taking away money from a prisoner. He sold the greenbacks for Confederate money. He was arrested by Maj. Gee, who said he would tie him up by the thumbs, if he did not return the money. His company made up the money for him and it was returned.

I never saw a placard calling upon prisoners to enlist with Maj. Gee's name signed to it.

Recollect Maj. Gee saying to a recruiting officer that he would not give anything for a deserter on either side.

Maj. Gee wore a grey jacket, blue pants and slick black cap. He wore a kind of citizen's brown over coat.

I was 150 yards from where the sentinel was that shot Lt. Davis. I heard the gun fire and ran down; two or three rocks came over the fence. Lt Davis was lying there—I ran down and got inside the prison. He was dead and the officers were taking the things out of his pockets.

I saw the tree, it was between the dead line and the fence—a distance of several feet between the tree and dead line. It had been marked out. I saw some urine at the root of the tree, to the right, toward the south side of the tree. The boy belonged to the 68th regiment.

A good deal of the wood to the bakery and hospital was hauled from the depot, but most of it from the country.

I have seen places where the prisoners escaped.

I saw Capt. Fuqua at the place where Davis lay. The sentinel would not let him cross the line. The sinks were near the N. E. angle of the prison. It was not necessary to go by that tree to get to them.

Cross Examination.—They would draw rations the next morning, after they were counted.

There were several times that they did not have rations to issue to the whole camp. There were some issued every morning.

I was away sometimes, I have seen prisoners who went out, bring in provisions. They never seemed to hide them.

Some preferred holes to tents. There were a good many in a tent. They could have gone into the tents, if they had wanted to. There were enough tents for all at the rate of 20 or 25 in a tent.

The body of Lt. Davis was lying 6 or 7 feet from the dead line.

Re-Direct.—If those in the burrows had come out, I dont suppose there would have been more than 25 to a tent. The division sergeant would go to the cook-house and, when they were ready he would send for his squad sergeant and draw the rations.

To Court.—I kept no account of the ration tickets issued daily. The sick in quarters were drawn for by the squad sergeants.—I have known a difference of 350 to 400 men between two consecutive days; sometimes they would not flank so much.

The officer's sinks were not between the dead line and the stockades; they were about 15 feet from the stockade. I dont know how many tents there were—some 200 or 400. There were two or three kinds—bell, wall and A tents. Most of them were large bell tents,—Sibley tents.

W. A. Gunn, Trinity College N. C.—Horse trader,—27 years old. Was a member of Co. C., Freeman battery. Was wood sergeant and then detailed with Capt. Goodman. Was wood sergeant for two or three months.

I was in Major Morfit's wood-yard. About four loads of wood came a day, and 32 cords each load. Sometimes ten cords and not more than 45 cords a day, were sent into the prison. The wood not issued was kept on hand at the yard. None of this wood was issued to the troops. The balance was issued when the train was broken. There was not more than 40 or 50 cords left.

The hospital and bakery were supplied by waggons. I gave checks on Capt. Goodman for every cord hauled. It continued during the time I was in the prison. Washington and Maroney were contractors. I don't remember the names of the others.

Capt. Goodman ordered Mr. Hauser and me to impress teams, to haul from Capt. Gray's down to the prison. We got 17 or 18 teams.—This wood was all carried inside.

Capt. Goodman was short of transportation—seven or eight 4-horse, and six or eight 2-horse wagons. Maj. Gee frequently wrote notes, asking for transportation. He would write, asking if there was no way to get wood, that they were suffering and actually needed it. He came up one night, and remarked to Mr. Poe that he wanted some wood. Major Gee said he would go to the lot and get the teams himself. Poe went and got the wood. Don't recollect his saying anything about a guard at that time. He wrote a note, saying that he would furnish a guard to impress teams.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—See announcement of the Secretary of the Medical Society of N. C.

W. R. Holt, Lexington, offers the most superior breeds of cattle for sale. Dr. Holt is, perhaps, the most successful stock-raiser in the State.

B. P. Williamson & Co., announce mules, &c., to be sold at their great sale on the 22nd.

THE REMAINS of the late Lieutenant William Henry Haywood, of this City, who was killed in the battle of the Wilderness, on the 5th day of May, 1864, will reach here this (Friday) evening, at 8 o'clock, on the Raleigh and Gaston train. They will be taken from the Depot to his mother's residence,—to be subsequently re-interred, at an hour which will be properly designated. We hope that all the former associates and companions-in-arms of the gallant young soldier will be in attendance, upon the arrival of the cars, to welcome him back, though dead, to the native soil, in heroic defence of which he fell.

BURGLARY.—The counting room of Messrs. Pulliam, Jones & Co., on Fayetteville street, was entered, on Wednesday night, and a pocket book containing some papers of great value, and several hundred dollars in money, abstracted.—The thief effected his entrance by cutting out the part of a pannel with an ordinary carpenter's bit, and then reaching in the arm and turning the key, which was in the door on the inside. As yet, no clue has has been obtained which may lead to the detection of the burglar or the recovery of the property.

We are indebted to the accommodating messengers of the National Express Company, for Northern papers in advance of the mails.

The Fayetteville News says there is trouble brewing there among the negroes. On Saturday they made a demonstration to release a negro prisoner from the guard-house.

NEWBERN.—The Newbern Commercial mentions several daring burglaries and robberies in that city within a few days past.

MURDER.—On Friday last, near Kinston, Corporal Colocote, of the 28th Michigan Infantry, was shot, and it is supposed instantly killed, by a man, name not known, whom he was attempting to arrest on a charge of horse stealing. A county constable, and the negro man from whom the horse was stolen, were with the deceased at the time of the shooting, but both ran off on hearing the first shot. A body of troops was sent from Newbern, Sunday evening, to make the arrest, if possible, and to recover the body of Colocote.

FIRE IN GREENSBORO.—A destructive fire occurred in Greensboro', on Monday night destroying a large store house, containing a quantity of tobacco, belonging to Messrs. Mendenhall & Jones, worth, perhaps, $20,000

Last Friday, Bishop Atkinson visited the parish of St. Timothy and confirmed ten persons.—In spite of his recent illness—and we were sorry to see him looking so poorly—he delivered a most excellent sermon.

The Rev. Mr. Patterson, well known to the soldiers of the 3rd North Carolina, and, indeed, to the whole brigade, as their chaplain, preached the day previous (Ascension day) and also on Friday evening.—Wilson Carolinian.

An Extraordinary Statement in Regard to Rheumatism and Pleurisy.

Peter Vaden, Esq., Dinwiddie county, Va., (Nov. 6, 1865,) says: "In August 1857, my wife, aged 66 years, was taken ill with what the doctor called a Bilious Rheumatism affecting her whole system; rendering her entirely helpless, so much so, that she had to be lifted and fed as an infant, for the pace of three months, suffering the most excruciating pain; her hands drawn out of shape and stiff, so that she could not use them. After all other remedies failed in January 1858, I was advised to get the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS for her. She used the Pills strictly according to the directions accompanying them, and we soon discovered a change for the better, and in one month's using she was well, and continued so up to the present time; has become fleshy, cheerful, and as active as one could be of her age. One of my servants was taken with a violent attack of Bilious Pleurisy. I gave him those Pills, and in about ten days he was up and at his work; said that he felt as well as he ever did, and has continued well ever since.—Another was taken with Pleurisy. I gave the Pills, and she was well and at her work in ten days after she commenced using them. My Doctor's bill has been heretofore from $175 to 200 per year. I have used them in my family, which consists of eighteen white and colored, and have not called in a doctor during the year. This is a great saving. They certainly are the best family medicine ever discovered. After a fair trial I can recommend them as such."

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

THESE famous remedies, known throughout the great West of the United States for their extraordinary cures of are now thoroughly introduced in the State of North Carolina, and can be obtained of all enterprising, first class druggists.

They act as a tonic to all debilitated systems, taken in doses of before meals, and should be found in every family residing in miasmatic districts.

To any skeptic or one who does not believe in these marvellous preparations,

A Box Will be sent Free

If he is not cured with one and not more than two boxes, no charge will be made. The price of the Pills is high—say but as they are a perfect cure without trouble or inconvenience, the charge is reasonable enough.

Address J. MAGGIEL, M. D., 43 Fulton St., New York.

CAUTION.

Watch narrowly and guard yourselves vigilantly against counterfeits. I have just suppressed a notorious counterfeit in Wisconsin, after much trouble and expense. Purchase of only first class druggists and never of peddlers or traveling dealers.

A BOON TO THE SICK AND THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD.

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS AND SALVE.

These Life-giving remedies are now given publicly to the world. For over a quarter of a century of private practice the ingredients in these

LIFE-GIVING PILLS!

Have been used with the greatest success. Their mission is not only to prevent disease, but to cure. They search out the various maladies by which the patient is suffering and invigorate the failing system. To the aged and infirm a few doses of these valuable PILLS will prove to be

A VERY FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH,

For in every case they add new life and vitality, and restore the waning energies to their pristine state.—To the young and middle-aged they will prove most invaluable, as a ready, specific and sterling medicine. Here is a dream realized, that Ponce-de-Leon sought for three hundred years ago, and never found. He looked for a fountain that would restore the old to vigor and make youth ever

An Eternal Spring!

It was left for this day and hour to realize the dream, and show in one glorious fact, that magic that made it fair.

THESE FAMOUS REMEDIES

Cannot stay the flight of years, but they can force back and hold aloof, diseases that might triumph over the aged and the young. Let none hesitate then, but seize the favorable opportunity the offers. When taken as prescribed—

FOR BILLIOUS DISORDERS

Nothing can be more productive of cure than these Pills. Their almost magic influence is felt at once; and the usual concomitants of this most distressing disease are removed. These remedies are made from the purest

VEGETABLE COMPOUNDS.

They will not harm the most delicate female, and can be given with good effect in prescribed doses to the youngest babe.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS

And all eruptions of the skin the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil!

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS.

Invariably cure the following Diseases.

Asthma,
Bowel Complaints,
Coughs,
Colds,
Chest Diseases,
Costiveness,

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

With corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood, you are sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of the body into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula, or Kings' Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints, and Heart Diseases. Try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still, we call this compound "Sarsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We can only assure the sick, that we offer them the best alterative which we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe, it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered by any body.

Ayers Cherry Pectoral is so universally known to surpass every other remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is needless here to recount the evidence of its virtues. The world knows them.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.
